KEADING.

The Line of Liberty!

. as from slumber and rest the armor anew for the field Freedom, with solemn behest.

in the line for the Union we love. talk we lose of the wonderful chain.

the songs that roll up to the ank of a chain in this land of the Free! tetret to rust with the tears of a slave!

leave it with honor and glory aflame;

Two Robbers.

wants they are but beggers in reality, blind, oaken buffets.

the valleys and plains below in search proper on a field azure.

And when they had nailed Hunch- shall be her home always." Esenbuckel, the hard-hearted sene And now the time had come when this scene with a little bonfire."

N L EY.

ort,

ge

R,

ranky embroidered vestments.

fridaing, frolicking times indeed! empty -was the question mooted one eve- these were dangerous pastimes, and that ones.

of picturesque case, round the usual camp occupation.

them back to an occasional glow. pavance—but he never must heights, now looming purple in the twilight, family physician, the symptoms of the dis curely locked up, but do him no injury." men who haptized it with jecting torret of some distant castle. Down how a sudden and violent palpitation of a man as any of you fellows, and would fidingly, and the beautiful lips parted into a realize the misery before us, if some means beam from the Father above, the sleuder spire of some village church ing of the war-trumpet; how the whizzing "See, see, a pretty spirit for so young a evelids dropped down again, and she re- Yes, brother benedicts, and fellow-suffers, warning that as one in the strongest of orchards which surrounded it.

> view before him, "we have cleared out from his charger bathed in gore. well guarded; neither is it worth our while and able advice with a heavy purseful of Everything you may take, and welcome, to look in at the Abbey of St. Christopher golden ducats. ch eftain. What say you, brave fellows, to pursuits.

are sometimes left open." "To Castle Taubenheim," said Black touched a stirrup.

ling earrings would become thee right well, the wearisome book-shelves?" and the glories that Love and Redemption de- The moon is now at the full, and will assist

CHAPTER II .- KUNO'S BRIDE.

In the castle of Taubenheim there were ing over her embroidery frame-They had a merry time of it up vonder indeed preparations for feasting and carousst and the pinewoods are most fragrant, cocks alike were being pressed into the serand the free booters pitched their camp. No vice, cheeses larger than mill-stones stood walls confined their move- piled around, along with dishes of honeymeans their ceiling was the blue vault of comb, bunches of sausages, and the many heaven their perfumes the wild thyme and other ingredients required for the concoction to sweet marjoram, their music the roar of of the light and wholesome menu of a "wassail supper" of those days.

The mountain-top is the only fit place | And the beverages were being dealt out Those who choose in like generous fashion. Large hogsheads grave, below in the valley, tilling the of ale, wine and mead stood ready tapped, demurely watched the preparations for the open-handed, and was not wont to claim the F. Legate, of Topeka, who always has been dungeon walls, when they might be scented rushes brought hither in cartloads by the vassals; and Dame Kunigunde, the well the reason of all this extra pomp and was carried off was divided fairly among make an offer to take the Prohibitionist by the vassals; and been busy at work for grandeur, and knew that her birthday was his comrades; he had even shown himself candidate out of the field in consideration of t and the mountain was wrapped in clouds, many days past, directing her maidens to to be likewise the feast of her betrothal. the lorest swaved to and fro with the dust and to sweep, to remove every unsightly cobweb from the heavy tapestry have cavern to retire into, where around hangings, and scour each silver plate, and fearing fire they pledged each other in goblet till it shone again, and she nodded reed to descend to the grovell- Damsel Irmengard, the niece of Ritter the black stone pines. we despised and to carry off the Stillfried, the lord of the castle, for she was For Heino and his brave companions arms, and the cries of distress, had not been ed up they certainly will serve the purpose were all assembled on the heights. They sufficient to arouse her, or, if vaguely over- of making intelligent voters suspicious of

since the produce of the forest And she was worthy of all the trouble peered down over the cliff, and took note of heard, midst her dream, she had taken it minor candidates.—The American. the by no means sufficient to satisfy the they took, for Irmengard was the sweetest the drawbridges and outside flights of steps, for sooth for the continuation of that noisy healthy appetites engendered by the aro and fairest maiden for many miles around, and organized their plan of approach accord- revelry from which she had early retired. and there was no lack of gallant gentlemen ingly; then, stretching out their limbs on Black Heino had seen many women and singles were told of the villages they had who would gladly have sued for her love the green sward, they lay down to rest, beautiful women before, and such had not is rapidly becoming a phenomenon of unwere told of the cellars they had emptied, but that it was well-known that old Still- awaiting the hour when it would be advisa- been coy with their favors toward him; yet, paralleled interest for the pessimistic stu- pepper and salt liberally; also a lump of paralleled interest for the pessimistic stui e altars they had stripped, and of a fried did not intend that this dainty flower ble to descend. indred other such merry pranks they had should be transplanted from his garden. He Midnight had already been tolled out vision, he felt as if he had never seen a brutal and savage in human nature; what-They told likewise of the senseless was a prudent man and a wise one. Old from the castle tower, when Black Heino woman ere this. The sleeping maiden be ever is debased and debasing in thought; They told likewise of the senseres, was a place, when light brown to the ignorant peasantry whenever Knight Stillfried, though none of the arose and gave his orders. Each man had fore him was a revelation of something he whatever is corrupt and corrupting in it out of the plate and serve at once. the ignorant peasantry whenever kingut stand corrupting in had never dreamed of till now—a revelation literature; whatever is depraved and de sign themselves with the cross, and be a pity to let such a neat slice of fortune ber were to overpower the male inhabitants of womanliness, of innocence, of purity. as from the spirit of evil himself. Cow- go out of the family. Therefore, when his and render them helpless. "They are no That gentle breast which rose and fell so as from the spirit of evil himself. Cow- go out of the lamily. Therefore, when his doubt all of them more than half intoxicated calmly had never been agitated by fierce lated to reduce man, made in the image of into a saucepan, with one-third of a pint of "Are you quite sure that it is bullet-Why, they might have known gallant brother reference, dying of his doubt in battle, had said to him by this time, so it will be an easy matter. passions; those rose leaf lips, half parted in battle, had said to him by this time, so it will be an easy matter. passions; those rose leaf lips, half parted in battle, had said to him by this time, so it will be an easy matter. Passions; those rose leaf lips, half parted in battle, had said to him by this time, so it will be an easy matter. Passions; those rose leaf lips, half parted in battle, had said to him by this time, so it will be an easy matter. Passions; those rose leaf lips, half parted in battle, had said to him by this time, so it will be an easy matter. Passions; those rose leaf lips, half parted in battle, had said to him by this time, so it will be an easy matter. Passions; those rose leaf lips, half parted in battle, had said to him by this time, so it will be an easy matter. Passions; those rose leaf lips, half parted in battle, had said to him by this time, so it will be an easy matter. Passions; those rose leaf lips, half parted in battle, had said to him by this time, so it will be an easy matter. Passions; those rose leaf lips, half parted in battle, had said to him by this time, so it will be an easy matter. Passions; those rose leaf lips, half parted in battle, had said to him by this time, so it will be an easy matter. Passions; those rose leaf lips, half parted in battle, had said to him by this time, so it will be an easy matter. Passions; those rose leaf lips, half parted in battle, had said to him by this time, so it will be an easy matter. Passions; those rose leaf lips, half parted in battle, had said to him by the lips and lips Black Heino and his band were gentle wounds received in battle, had said to his band were gentle wounds. The band were gentle wounds received in battle, had said to his band were gentle wounds received in battle, had said to his band were gentle wounds received in battle, had said to his band were gentle wounds received in battle, had said to his band were gentle wounds received in battle, had said to his band were gentle wounds received in battle, had said to his band were gentle wounds received in battle, had said to his band were gentle wounds received in battle, had said to his band were gentle wounds received in the band was a said to his band were gentle wounds received in the band was a said to his band were g every one of them, to the heart's core, with his last breath, Brother Stimled, be that each of them would sooner die than a father to my orphan daughter," he had, chronicle of French daily life. Whatever out the lemon peel, add one-fourth of a pint that each of them would sooner die than a father to my orphan danguter, no made that each of them would sooner die than a father to my orphan danguter, no made to the father to my orphan danguter, no m What I they had sent old Baron Priigelwas most characteristic of the Roman of sherry, sugar to your taste, and the membering that his own son Kuno was just There is no need to kill any one if they lillies; those eyes, now hidden 'neath those membering that his own son Kuno was just There is no need to kill any one if they lillies; those eyes, now hidden 'neath those membering that his own son Kuno was just fringed lids could only be of heaven's own of Castle Hohenfelz, to the granary latent wish could be fulfilled, the little Silently they crept down the cliff, each her all around as with a royal mantle, while of Castle Hohenfelz, to the granary latent wish could be funded into a beautiful man letting himself drop from ledge to one long plait of massive gold hung down Hugo apotheosizes as the eye of the unithis into a bottle and shake it until it is realized that he had been set up there to be were not scores of poor vassals the better maiden, and the boy Kuno into a handsome ledge with the agility of a chamois, clutch and trailed on to the polished boards. youth of well-nigh twenty years, with the ing at the stunted brushwood for support, So long it was, and so heavy did it seem, scriptions of its historic monuments to be ple dressing is used it is necessary to dry

Knew that the Creater did not cause the features regular, yet Kuno Taubenhorst did chapel, whose arched windows and mul-floor. The spinning wheel standing in one cormonies in the meetings of the Pacific Garads, whether simple or plain, would be imto send forth succulent fruits only for not come up to the chivalrous standard of not come up to the chivalrous st pampered individuals; and when they individuals; and they individuals; an the was a ruined sot. When on the railroad for a younker; his fair brow was often their chieftain said:

| Some of licate as a maiden's, and his face overwrite through the was a ruined sot. When on the railroad train, coming from Springfield to Chicago, An experienced and notable housekeeper train, coming from Springfield to Chicago, I have together in a frown of discontent their chieftain said: ments, no sert of disrespect was meant, for drawn together in a frown of discontent, their chieftain said : They wisely judged that masses read in sack. and his large blue eyes, just such another wisely judged that masses read in sack. and his large blue eyes, just such another wisely judged that masses read in sack. cloth robes and held within bare walls, may pair as those of his cousin Irmengard, our devotions on our way back."

tailsed by such mirthful reminiscences. Oh, him take part in tournaments and joustings light seemed to threaten these intruders her? these were rare good times, merry times, and other such rough amusements of the with their lifeless arms.

in the midst of the fray, pearly-gray wood ashes lay undisturbed, crusading expeditions, as every well-born overpowered and bound fast. One of the lifted it up, and pressed it to his lips. ands in the conflict we save when the gentle breath of the evening gentleman was expected to do, but he came robbers was about to finish him off with his

Inere is nothing in this wide world that the save when the gentle breath of the evening gentleman was expected to do, but he came robbers was about to finish him off with his

But in stooping his scabbard had touch- fills a married man with such grisly horror a dark oak color, is made of one quart of man with such grisly horror a dark oak color, is made of one quart of man with such grisly horror a dark oak color, is made of one quart of man with such grisly horror a dark oak color, is made of one quart of man with such grisly horror a dark oak color, is made of one quart of man with such grisly horror a dark oak color, is made of one quart of man with such grisly horror a dark oak color, is made of one quart of man with such grisly horror a dark oak color, is made of one quart of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such grisly horror and the continuous colors of man with such gr wind as it swept across the mountain fanned back very soon from the Holy Land on sick pointed, when Black Heino, catching sight ed the oaken boards. There was a slight as the approach of the cold feet season. A vista of wooded hills was here enrolled to-disagree with his constitution. As he bade him desist. of massive bowlder stones, or by the pro- were strange and distressing exceedingly; his teeth in helpless rage. "I am as good in the deep valleys, now wholly in shade, heart had seized him at the very first sound prove it to you had I but the chance." sometimes looked out from the flowery noise of each Paynim arrow as it passed lad," said Heino, laughing, as he turned the lapsed into slumber with the gentle sigh of the raw September air gives warning that him through the air caused his knees to lock behind him. "Let us see!" said Rinaldo, one of of the shake and tremble in an inexplicable man. The old Knight Stillfried himself, para-and the line for the rights of all men, Schwanenthal pretty well lately, and 'tis And the learned physician after musing ing voice and in faltering accents he begged dren that come from each nation and but a year since we last pillaged Wolken upon this singular case had advised the Rit for mercy, and himself pointed out the the same songs, and the chorus, and stein. Poor fellows, it would not be fair ter Stillfried to give up warfare, to take a place where his gold bags were stowed were we not to give them time to get up wife, and to restore his constitution with away. their stocks again before paying them and good old ale and generous wine, all of "Good master robber," he said to the other visit. There is no use either in try- which recipes were followed out conscienti- tall and formidable chieftain, who was ing the fortress of Rothenfels, for the cow. ously by the gallant knight; and he reward- standing over him in a threatening attitude. with singht of Peace, where its banner ards are afraid of us, and have the walls ed the learned physician for his intelligent "I pray you deal not harshly with me, the Abbot is a niggardly old man and will Young Kuno was, therefore, brought up west turret yonder, the first staircase to the assuredly not go to heaven when he dies, in accordance with these ideas. The care right. Stay. I will myself show you the the dead, and the Right for the for I hear that he has not yet replaced the of his education had been delegated to Pater way;" but his trembling limbs refused to ornaments we borrowed the year before last. Nepomuk, the castle chaplain, who had bear him, and he sank back hopelessly No, we must look further this time for the been instructed to stifle in the bud any un- The poor old knight had not felt so ill since guarded for that-" guarded by innocence, To the hole of the North, which shall welcome replenishing of our larder. What says our wholesome hankerings after life endangering he had left the Holy Land.

waken the South to the glory of Taubenheim? It is many a year since it was successful, for, as was said before, in fried. "But woe to you, old man, if you has been disturbed, and 'tis said there are his twentieth year Kuno Taubenhorst rather have deceived me! You shall die the death for such was not his wont. festive preparations on foot. At such resembled a delicate maiden than a spirited of a dog!" And he turned and went up the times warders are apt to be lax, and gates youth. His white hand had never wielded vaulted corridor alone, leaving his men a cross bow or a dagger, his foot but seldom below intent on refreshing themselves with the robber chieftan, with a terrible oath, he heroes that bowed to the shot and the Heino reflectively; "yes, the plan is none Only sometimes, when alone bending board. so bad. I have always heard that there be over a learned task, some latent spark of the went up the staircase as directed. plenty of fat oxen and snowy flocks, barrels manhood would stir his sluggish blood, and taking the gigantic steps two at a time in nan to the front! We are comrades to-day! of wine, and sacks of gold, in short a goodly he would cast his pen to the ground and his hurry to accomplish this part of the the call of the roll let each answer his name! harvest for bold hearts and strong arms, tear the crackling parchment with feverish night's business. A glance through the the smoke of the field shall soon vanish away Plenty golden chains and such furbelows, fingers, and at such moments his blue eyes narrow gullet window at the landscape betoo, for our sweet-hearts. Tell me, my would shoot angry sparks, and he would low had shown him that the night was far pretty Sibylla;" he continued, carelessly grind his white teeth and mutter savagely— advanced already, and although the moon her [George Eliot's] novels was written, ish her forever from our households! the union of Peace is the prize just before; stroking the jetty curls of a beautiful gypsy "Is my life always to be like this, I won- was mistress of the sky as yet, he knew this life casts abundant light. Writing was My frost-bitten friends, I am done. the lattle wear on-when the field has been girl who reclined at his feet, "what shall it der? Are my hands good for nothing but they must be far on their way ere sunrise not to her the torment it was to Carlyle. Let us each go to our homes with the be this time? Those proud German dames for tracing crooked characters on you vile with the booty, for who could tell when She enjoyed the growth of her works under firm determination to rig up some scheme have no lack of such sparkling gear, and yellow sheepskin. Are my eyes never to succor might not arrive from some of the her hand, and entered keenly into the humor for the rooting out of this upas tree of the field will give birth to new hoped for the methinks a ruby necklace or a pair of spark. see aught but these sad gray walls and neighboring castles?

the world shall behold in our golden-writ our march; therefore to Castle Taubenheim tion were counterbalanced by other moments directions given, or perhaps the old knight, to do, and to enjoy the result as heartily as Now in parting, let us drink this toast which were more agreeable, for there are in his senile terror, had failed to speak very any outsider. Talent can do just as well as "The Female Foot. Its Movements Must The new splendors that float o'er the home of The proposition found a ready echo two sides to every question; and often so of distinctly. Certain it is that Heino turned it knows how. It is a workbox in which and Shall Be Restricted, or the Article Itself among the followers, and "To Castle Tan. late, when the old Knight Stillfried, after to the left instead of the right, and pursued every tool has its place, and the hand knows in Some Way Made Red Hot!"—Burling--Wm. Oland Bourne. benheim! to Castle Taubenheim!" was emptying an extra glass of the potent wine his way up a second and narrower winding the way to each. Its sphere of inward ton Hawkeye. which was so necessary for strenghening his staircase. The flight came to an end pefore action is what Dallas calls "the mind of the constitution, would clap him on the shoulder, a small arched doorway.

and say, winking toward the end of the "Here, then, old Stillfried keeps his whole nature, down to the depths of the unroom, where the pretty Irmengard set bend gold," he said to himself; and he gave a conscious life. Its working comes from the

the grand old mountains. Where the ing being made on a large scale. Oxen grows apace, and will be a fair maiden. A but, somewhat to his surprise, it yielded to them. Thackeray, wondering where his water. the grand old mountains. Where the ing being made on a large scale. Oxen pretty lass and a pretty dowry are not things the first touch, and flew back noislessly.

Indicately, wondering made on a large scale. Oxen pretty lass and a pretty dowry are not things the first touch, and flew back noislessly.

Indicately, wondering made on a large scale. Oxen pretty lass and a pretty dowry are not things the first touch, and flew back noislessly.

Indicately, wondering made on a large scale. Oxen pretty lass and a pretty dowry are not things the first touch, and flew back noislessly.

Indicately, wondering made on a large scale. Oxen pretty lass and a pretty dowry are not things the first touch, and flew back noislessly.

Indicately, wondering made on a large scale. Oxen pretty lass and a pretty dowry are not things to say," is an instance of what we mean. George Eliot consulted on the poino, for what well-bred brilliancy. Gold and silver, silver and and would presently be poured into the long words love or marriage until actually stand- strewn lavishly about. No wonder that in the field for any base or mercenary pur- About half an hour's cooking will be re- duke's personal friends and to get from Whatever be their actual rows of silver tankards ranged upon the ing at the altar? But you may be sure Heino stood absorbed in the contemplation pose. Nor do we believe that this has been quired, and there is not the least danger them letters of recommendation which even that she was no less sharp sighted than are of such riches. The great hall had been garnished and young ladies in our days, and that as she The robber chieftain was generous and seems to be made out amply that Mr. James fearing fire they pledged each other in good and approvingly at the reflection therein of an foot of a high granite cliff, the summit of gold could be bear to see in another man's in possible arrangements for the termination calls for sour milk: one cup of sugar, half d approvingly at the reflection therein of an root of an armonic and a superior of the reflection therein of an root of an armonic and a superior of the reflection therein of an root of an armonic and a superior of the reflection therein of an root of an armonic and a superior of the reflection therein of an root of an root of an armonic and the superior of the su re'amid warlike songs and stirring tales old woman with a yellow parchment face which was crowned with straggling pine hand. May a hair-breadth escape and many a of spring flowers were being entwined by horizontal streaks against the blue sky gazed at the treasure before him, at the the telegram was bogus and that Mr. Legate cup of sour milk; two small cups of flour; better for that inventor if he had not in-Many a hair-breadth escape and many a of spring flowers were being entwined by had no authority in the matter. But in that flavor with lemon; butter a small dripping sisted on seeing the duke. Heino, their Captain, and themselves, ate the large painted shield with the arms so engrossed in testing the quality of the large painted shield with the arms so engrossed in testing the quality of the large painted shield with the arms so engrossed in testing the quality of the large painted shield with the arms so engrossed in testing the quality of the large painted shield with the arms so engrossed in testing the quality of the large painted shield with the arms so engrossed in testing the quality of the large painted shield with the arms so engrossed in testing the quality of the large painted shield with the arms so engrossed in testing the quality of the large painted shield with the arms so engrossed in testing the quality of the large painted shield with the arms so engrossed in testing the quality of the large painted shield with the arms so engrossed in testing the quality of the large painted shield with the arms so engrossed in testing the quality of the large painted shield with the arms so engrossed in testing the quality of the large painted shield with the arms so engrossed in testing the quality of the large painted shield with the arms so engrossed in testing the quality of the large painted shield with the arms so engrees a - merry men; of the raids they had made of the Taubenhorst family, a pair of pigeons freshly tapped mead that evening, he might light. have noticed that about sunset there were She lay thus plunged in the innocent not have expected to pocket the money himthe valleys and plains below in search proper on a field azure.

A most appetizing salad is made of raw hand. What say you! Ha! ha! ha!" Only at moments like these did it seem his sight.

In a we noticed that about sunset there with a would-be jaunty air, which gave way self, and yet have Mr. St. John continue in the turnoil of the robbers' overfall the clark of self. Should these difficulties not be seen up there besides turnoil of the robbers' overfall the clark of self. Should these difficulties not be seen up there besides turnoil of the robbers' overfall the clark of self.

What if they had sent old Baron Priigel- membering that his own son Runo was just themselves up with a good grace, but fringed lids, could only be of heaven's own effeminacy or absurdity which tainted, in for about two minutes, not longer. It is gag the womankind if they attempt any of blue. Those other creatures he had known the period of its decline, the genius of the particularly nice with rice or bread pudding. his secretary, "tell the sentry outside to bis neck! Had he not richly deserved it answered:

Brother Hereboord, I will; my home their cursed shricking. When we have had been but females; this was the first Latin race, is perpetuated for our edification filled our bags, we can then enliven the woman he had seen.

As for stealing, that was a thing they flaxen down just beginning to show on his never missing their hold nor slipping a foot, that it was a marvel that by its very weight till all stood assembled at the base of the it did not drag down the slender girlish figtill all stood assembled at the base of the it did not drag down the slender girlish fig-exercised their rights as free men, for they Though his limbs were straight and his rock. Cautiously they stole past the Gothic ure into the pool of silver moonlight on the age, and when the young Kuno had peti- But Heino and his merry men paid no rich girdle she had worn at the banquet lay ago he was walking around looking for soft linen cloth, and then polish with a Say, wither shall we direct our next tioned for leave to hunt the wild boar or heed to these fossil spectres. They were on a neighboring seat; likewise a pair of somebody to sand-bag him he could have chamois skin; this will not waste or scratch Say, wither shall we direct our next tioned for leave to hunt the wild boar or need to these lossil spectres. They were on a neighboring seat; likewise a pair of somebody to sand-bag him he could have chamois skin; this will not waste or scratch long white gloves daintily embroidered with accommodated him, as he was in that line of the plating, and yet will brighten it landborg's Perfume, Alpine Violet.

his bold comrades were assembled together the risks of hunting off his hands, while laid plans. The drawbridge was passed, moonlight pool before the eye—a surging sea of pine-clads enumerated them at great length to the "See, he is but a boy. Let him be sel stood there holding the glove in his hand. perienced the awful contact of the icy femi and broken here and there by some group ease which had befallen him in Palestine "I am not a boy." And Kuno ground horrence, such as he had been fearing. No, winter, but you who have survived the rising to his feet and casting a glance at the sight of the first comrade who had fallen or locked up, for he trembled so sorely that only spare my life. The gold, it is in the

"I shall find it myself." said Heino, with like of him. the East and the West in the labor shall a march across the hills to proud Castle. To all outward appearance this system a glance of contempt at the shaking Still-good push to the oaken door, prepared to very heart. It knows not the paths of its by using borax and water in the proportion "What say you, Kuno? Your cousin force it by strength had it proved obstinate, own movement, except as the result shows of one pound of borax to one gallon of warm need not always be dull and gloomy, and plenty of gold in here; gold such as Heino critical suggestions her books owe much.— be cut in halves or be left whole.

that there was one fair reason at all events had never in his life seen before; gold The American. for making his lot endurable. The maidem hereself had not been fermally a way which intoxicated him with its store on gold or precious stones.

The Castle of Taubenheim stood at the to himself. Not a coin of that glittering from him, in which he seems to acquiesce A cake receipt is also here given which turmoil of the robbers' overfall, the clank of field. Should these difficulties not be clear- it is very nice.

as he now stood and gazed at this moonlight dent of human nature. Whatever is mean,

The flowing locks of aureate hair draped fine seed pearls. One of the gloves had business at that time. - Chicago Journal. perfectly.

ning in early spring, as Black Heino and there were plenty retainers there to take Nothing occurred to disturb their well. slipped on the floor, and was lying in the reading the missal or translating the old the walls scaled, and the drunken warders Black Heino had never had such a fitting BY "JEFF JOSLYN"-(DELIVERED AT A CON They were grouped in various attitudes chronicles was a safer and more profitable speedily disarmed. Most of the guests opportunity of providing Sibylia with the still carousing in the vast banqueting hall ornaments he had promised; but he never My CHERRESS COMRADES AND BULL fire, which had been allowed to sink rather For the worthy knight's own experience were likewise too far gone to offer any re. thought of Sibylla, and he made one step pozen Benepices 1 thank you for the low, for the weather was mild, and the air, was all against the handling of weapons. sistance. Only young Kuno fought like a forward, and bent toward the glove lying at honor conferred upon me in being elected even up here, was soft and balmy. The In his own youth he had joined one of the madman, but after a desperate struggle was his feet. Carefully and reverentially he chairman of this persecuted body.

> leave, as he had found that warfare greatly of the smooth-faced, blue-eyed stripling, movement on the couch, and the damsel Bachelors are not supposed to know any opened her blue eves full upon him, as he thing about this subject, having never ex-she looked at him fearlessly, sweetly, con-annual affliction from year to year can well ravishing smile. Then, slowly, her fringed are not devised to avert it. a happy child resuming a blissful dream. the dread epidemic will soon break out in Heino could have stood thus forever, our midst! oldest and hercest looking of the band, ner, and how he had swooned away at the lyzed by fear, had no need of being bound keeping guard over her slumbers, but a sound below aroused him from his trance; heavy steps were coming up the staircase. and, closing the chamber door, he turned to meet his men, hurrying up in search of him. "Haste thee, haste thee, noble captain, we are discovered, there is a sound of gal-

> "Didst thou find the gold!" was asked by more than one.

"Plenty of gold," murmured Black Heino dreamily as they were leaving the castle. "Then, why leave it behind, noble captain? Why not have brought it with thee? "I could not bring it," said Black Heino with a heavy sigh, "It was too well by purity. Such treasures were not for the

The men wondered to see their chieftai sigh so bitterly over a few sacks of gold.

"We can return and fetch it another time." suggested one of the followers, but the good cheer that remained on the festive drew his poniard, and swore to strike dead on the spot the first man who spoke of touching that gold!

[To be continued.]

Talent and Genius.

of such a character as the immortal Mrs. domestic congealment and report it to our It may have been this very haste which Poyser. This is the prerogative of genius meeting next month, when the most feasible But these outbreaks of rebellious irrita- caused the robber chieftain to mistake the _to do better than its possessor knows how plan will be put to vote and adopted.

German damsel would never pronounce the gold, the whole room was full of them paign for believing that Mr St. John was water placed in a moderately hot oven. made out by the recent disclosures. But it of burning.

treasure which he would fain have kept all Mr. St. John, and even to quote a telegram and be hung to the wall.

Parisian society, says the London World, praving in art; whatever, in every depart easily made. Wash one tablespoonful of just beginning a long lecture upon its merits, ment of human activity or effort, is calcu- sago in two or three waters, then put it when the dake cut him short by asking. and example, is embalmed in an atmosphere A salad dressing, much used in Italy. is which operates as an antiseptic to all im made in this way: The volk of one egg, six pure survivals by that capital which Victor tablespoonfuls of oil, three of vinegar; put verse, and which is proclaimed in the in- white and creamy looking. When this simnon urbs sed orbis.

They stepped lightly over the marble silver cage filled him with apprehension After he arrived here he walked all around Three or even four drachms of cyanide of tombs where slept many generations of the whenever he fluttered in his sleep. What the worst parts of the city in hopes that potassium, from eight to ten grains of nitrate And the old mountain used to re-echo Ritter Stillfried had given his son a very family of Taubenhorst, stalwart knights, if the beautiful maiden were to wake and be somebody would sand bag him. Soon after of silver, with four ounces of water. Apply The old mountain used to re-echo ward another man spoke, who said that he this to a silver-plated article with a soft A necklace of sparkling gems and the if he had met the other brother when a year oughly with with clean water, dry it with a great gulf separates them too."

An Address on Cold Feet.

But the look was not one of terror or ab nine pedal throughout a long and dreary

We may wail as we will, by day ; "Oh, woman! in the night-time please Don't let thy feet our warm forms freeze!" cruel winter is upon us?

once, and there must be united action!

arrested, its benumbing influence will be fill the cakes. the ruin of our sex! We want refrigerators in our summer kitchens!-not in our winter couches! Woman has many good qualities, and far be it from me to sneer at her on general principles: but we must either cut off, or On the circumstances in which each of thaw out her chillblained hoofs, or else ban

Household Hints.

hold, bewildered at the treasures which met had the same delight in the growth of her oysters mixed with an equal quantity of work, and it was redoubled by the intellec- crisp celery, cut very finely, and served with chance of declaring that the safety of the to young Kuno that life in the old castle Gold! gold! Yes, there was tual sympathy of her husband, to whose a mayonnaise dressing. The oysters may

An easy and perfectly satisfactory way to cook a custard is to put it into a pudding We saw no reason during the recent cam. dish or tin basin, and set it into a pan of hot morrow's festivities, she understood right lion's share for himslef. Whatever booty regarded as a friend of Mr. St. John's did cards. Make a thin cushion, cover it kept at bay, he was evidently determined to careless about taking his due, and set no a payment of $25.000. The letter from curely a Christmas card to the centre of it. For a moment Wellington looked so grim Mr. Legate the latter admits to be genuine It is a pretty ornament for the dressing that the secretary began to hope for the But now, for the first time, he had seen a in part. It certainly professes to speak for table; or it may have a small cord attached order which he would gladly have obeyed, he to take this course? He certainly could thirty to thirty-five minutes; when done slouching, shabby, slightly red-nosed man,

A bread crumb omelet is excellent cupful of milk, a trace of nutmeg, and fail to remember the great havoc made by butter the size of a small egg. Mix all French cuirassiers, whose breastplates were together, and bake in a slow oven, on a not bullet proof; whereas, if-" buttered pie plate; when light brown turn the salad after washing. A wire basket is headlong through the open window with a a convenient receptacle to put the salad into vell worthy of a Blackfoot Indian, and after washing, as it will drain perfectly darted like a rocket across the court-yard, One hears some very sensational testi- there and can be lightly shaken. All sal-

A great many things may be done in the winter for the improvement of the hom and its surroundings, for instance, the rus tic seats may be put in perfect order before varnishing them it is necessary to wash them clean, and for this plenty of hot water, soan and even a little soda will be found beneficial. A cheap varnish which There is nothing in this wide world that will wear well for a year, and which gives boiled imseed oil and two ounces of asphal tum; these should be boiled over a slow fire until the asphaltum is dissolved: there is great danger of the mixture boiling over. and also it must be constantly stirred.

There is a woman who enjoys among her friends the distinction of being able to make cream puffs that rival any that the most successful baker can produce. Here is her receipt One tumbler of water, one-quarter of a pound of butter, and one-half tumbler of flour. Boil the butter and water together, and while boiling stir in the flour. Take this from the fire to cool after the flour is well stirred in, for it will cook sufficiently before the mixture is cool. When it Yet still, in the glacial hours of the night, is cold, add five eggs, one at a time, mixing when we are curled up in sweet content well—this mixing taking the place of any ment, having successfully courted the drowsy other beating of the egg; add about half a loping horses in the distance; we must be god, and dreaming we have realized a for- teaspoonful of cold water with each egg, not tune in stocks and are sunning ourselves in more; with a tablespoon drop the mixture Florida, those cold, clammy clods of flesh on tin pans to bake. The oven must be situated on our wives lower extremities very hot, and the cake must remain in the will come kerplunk against our backbone, oven for filteen minutes, during which the and wake us up with a cold shiver of fright! door must not be opened. This is the time Shuddering brethern! what shall be done which tries the faith of the cook, who is not to suppress this growing evil before another a genius, but who can only boast of talent. It would be well for her to occupy the fif-Whatever we do must be accomplished at teen minutes in some absorbing mental exercise, for the door must not be opened or Shall we strap our better halves' feet to the cakes will be as flat as a pan cake, the footboard, make them wear Arctic over. When they are done, cut a small opening shoes to bed, or lock ourselves up in patent, in the side of each cake and fill the hollow hermetically-sealed, sheet-iron night-shirts? with the following mixture: Half a coffee-Husbands, fathers, and other vassals! cup of flour, one cup of sugar, two eggs, This is no trifling matter we have under two tumblers of milk; beat the eggs, flour and sugar together, and stir them into the Each year the terrible frigidity is on the flour, and let this boil until it is smooth and increase, and if its devastating course is not thick. It should be cool when it is used to

An Inventor's Dilemma.

In a ground floor room in one of the large public buildings of London sat a man writing at a table covered with papers. He prominent nose, and a face hard and massive as a granite statue, and wearing the set look peculiar to men who have surmounted great perils. Few, indeed, had more practice in both than this man, for be was no other than the Duke of Wellington. and his crowning victory at Waterloo was still but a few years old

There was a tinkling of a bell outside, and then a murmur of voices in the anteroom, but the duke never raised his head from his writing, and even when his secretary entered and said : "If it please your grace, that man with the bullet-proof breastplate has called again, and wishes very much to see your grace for a moment." The duke's face darkened, as well it might, for the man in question was the most pertinacious bore whom he had ever encountered. The bullet-proof cuirass was his own invention, and he never lost a whole British army depended upon its instant adoption of this "unparalled discovery," which he carried about him and exhibited at all times and in all places. Had this been all, he would soon have been disposed of: but, unluckily, he had contrived to interest one or two of the Wellington could not easily disregard. Something must clearly be done, however: A way is suggested for using Christmas for although the fellow had hitherto been > viz, to kick the inventor into the street forthwith.

"Show him in," said he, briefly, The observant secretary noted both the In came the great discoverer-a tall.

penetrating glance. "I am glad to think that your grace apserved with roast lamb or veal; one pint of preciates the merits of my invention." said bread crumbs, a large spoonful of parsley, he, in a patronizing tone. "They are. inrubbed very fine, half of a tiny onion chop. deed, too important to be undervalued by ped fine. Beat two eggs light, add a tea- any great commander. Your grace cannot > "Have you got the thing with you?" interrupted Wellington. The inventor unwrapped a very short

"Ouite sure, your grace." " Put it on then and go stand in that The other wonderingly obeyed.

load with ball cartridge, and come in here to test this cuirass. Quick, now!" But quick though the secretary was, the inventor was quicker still. The moment he shot dead on the spot if his cuirass turned out not to be bullet-proof after all, he leaped vanishing through the outer gate-way; nor did the Dake of Wellington, from that forth, Women have a happy faculty of uttering pleasant things of each other. "Why dear," said one to a friend, 'do you know that young Smith and Laura Jones have quarreled, and now a great gulf separates them?" "Yes," replied the other. "They are in the same position as her cars. A

Lundborg's Perfume, Edenis, Lundborg's Perfume, Lily of the Valley,